Statement:

I was born in 1987 in Shiraz and from the beginning I had major thalassemia. Every month I had at least two blood transfusions. Because of excess blood iron, I should use deferoxamine infusion pump, which put on my tummy on the nights and in my sleep time. Until 1997 I had been done bone marrow transplant surgery and the surgery was successful fortunately. But after surgery I had seizures without any history in my family. My physicians said the cause of my epilepsy maybe is the side effects of different medicine which I used for bone marrow transplant surgery.
